

FIT5190 Assignment 1: Research Writing Task 3

Place your research in context

This writing task is worth 10% of the total mark in the unit.

This assignment can be an individual work or a team work of 2 or 3 students.

Due Date: 11:55pm Monday 14 May 2018 (Week 12)

Please write two paragraphs or more to

(a) outline current research in the field,

(b) state where your research stands, and

(c) indicate how your research may contribute to the field.

- This task is designed to clarify for the general reader what your research is about in relation to a broad field.
- For the purpose of this exercise, you may include a small number of references. With proper citations, you should articulate the relationship between your research and related research work undertaken to date, especially recent results.
- Clearly describe what has been done specifically that lead to your own research (i.e. what needs to be done). This will help the reader understand the relevance (existing state of knowledge) and contribution (significance to the stock of knowledge) of your research.
- If your research identifies an important gap in the field, state how your research will contribute to its resolution. If your research involves a new problem or a new method, explain the importance of the problem or the method.

What to submit:

Please prepare your writing task using MS Word and name your Word file using your assignment group number, followed by the writing task number, for example, 1_T3.doc.

How to submit:

Please upload your writing task file using Moodle.